OUR REMARKABLE HERITAGE & HISTORY
It is very likely that slate was worked at Honister shortly after the Norman Conquest and by the late 1600's it was well established. Early 'open-sky' workings were along the top of Honister Crag but by the mid 1700's slate mining had developed extensively with miners tunnelling into the crag to work rich deposits underground. Today there are two separate quite extensive active slate mines within the crag. The Kimberley Mine produces a dark olive-green slate while the Honister Mine produces lighter grey-green products.

Outside Adventures

Infinity Bridge so named because often you are unable to see the other end! Strung across a breathtaking gorge high up on the mountain, 1,500ft above the valley floor below. The Longest in Britain!

Via Ferrata Xtreme which takes the Via Ferrata Xperience at Honister to an Exciting new level!

'Sky Walking' in the Lake District.... Inch your way across the daunting 'Burma Bridge', suspended above the valley floor, then approach the spectacular summit ridge of Fleetwith Pike (2,126ft) over our 66 foot vertical scramble net!

You'll be guided and secured to the mountain by cable throughout, you do not need previous climbing experience.

Nine times higher than The Big One Rollercoaster and seven times the height of Big Ben!

Gentler than the Via Ferrata Xtreme the Via Ferrata Classic follows the ancient miner's cliff-edge footpath high on Fleetwith Pike, in a thrilling, stunning and safe outdoors family activity.

Step out of your comfort zone!

Mine Tours

Guided Mine Tours of England's oldest working slate mine wind their way through the 900 year old mine deep in the heart of the former volcano, Fleetwith, taking in narrow passages and incredible cathedral-like caverns. There are also specialist ecological and industrial heritage tours on Honister Crag during the summer.
